Abolitionists.

It is very natural that those who usurp the name of "Democracy" should endeavor to keep even with their opponents in the line of nomenclature, and try to retaliate for the hissing sound that is suggested by the very name of "copperhead." The wind is so completely taken out of their sails that they have no capacity for vituperation left that can reach farther than the old hackneyed, wornout whine of "abolitionist!" and the way the whole pack, "Tray, Blanche, Sweetheart," little cops and all, ring the changes on that very comprehensive word, is a caution to all new beginners in democratic oratory.

To be sure, Ben Hayden in his electioneering tour deluges the listening few with slimy epithets, but they would not look well in print, wouldn't sound well before a decent female contraband, and are therefore tabooed for purpose of general publication.

There was a time when the term "abolitionist" was opprobrious—when the South claimed certain rights under the Constitution, and their claim was recognized as just and defended by the good and reasonable men of every section.

Then, there were a few whose instincts were honest enough, but were only excusable in their course so far as humanity, religion and benevolence can excuse those who pursue a moral sentiment until it becomes a fanaticism.

These men were abolitionists in esse—they were disorganizers and disunionists from principle—they denied that any constitutional guarantee could conflict with their sense of right and be permitted to live.

Constantly clamoring at the doors of Congress, the representatives of a sentiment and not of a formidable party, they aggravated Southern chivalry—stirred up the "institution" with a long pole, and gave the text for the Southern opposition to the Union.

Slavery was wrong; intelligent Southrons have told the writer so a hundred times; wrong is sensitive, and resists too intimate association with right.

There never was a political party, of power enough to be formidable, that made an issue of abolition; and the sentiment was never adopted as a motto until long after Sumter's flag had fallen. Never until the abolition of slavery became a necessity for the successful prosecution of the war. Then we adopted it. Now we echo it, and the word abolition has become synonymous with the preservation of the Union and the honor of the flag.

Slavery has rebelled against the law, violated her compact, and forfeited her claims under the Constitution. The rights she can claim belong to every outlaw, and the justice due her would be the fate of a felon.

But do not misunderstand us: while we see that peace, permanent peace can never come so long as slavery remains a frowning curse upon union and progress—while we recognize the irrepressibility of the conflict, we commend the solution of the problem, and the consummation of the fact, to the wisdom of our rulers, in God's good time and in His own way.

INTERESTING TO MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN.—We have just been shown the prospectus of a new and valuable work entitled "Cyclopedia of Commercial and Business Anecdotes." The publishers of this work (D. Appleton & Co.) announce it to be a collection of original and selected, of the choicest, most striking and recherche anecdotes of merchants, traders, bankers, mercantile celebrities, millionaires, bargain makers, &c., and comprising interesting reminiscence and facts, remarkable traits and humors, with notable sayings, dealing and witticisms.

It is the first work of the kind which has ever appeared in this or any other country, devoted to the humorous phase of trade and traders. The anecdotes in this cyclopedia pertain to the celebrities of traffic in all ages and nations: such as Astor, Rothschild, Girard, Baring, Lafitte, Barker, DeMedicis, Lorillard, Howqua, Bates, Peabody, Lawrence, Hope, Touro, &c., &c. Every Library of note in the largest cities of the country has been explored for the materials of the work, and the best private sources within the circle of men of letters have been resorted to. It has occupied the time of the author for the last fifteen years. In every case, an anecdote which could not stand a fair test of authenticity, has been rejected.

The work will be illustrated with fifty steel portraits of noted merchants of Europe, Asia and America, as well as wood cuts of amusing incidents in their lives, and views of noted business localities.

The work will be published in two large volumes, octavo, over 400 pages each. In our opinion, this is decidedly the richest thing of the kind we have ever seen, and can earnestly recommend its purchase to any one, as a work not only amusing, depicting the piquancies and pleasantries of trade, but in a high degree useful and instructive. We are informed that Mr. J. W. Ward, the agent for for this city, will circulate the prospectus for orders. Success attend him as we feel satisfied it must.

MR. [illegible], OF BAKER [illegible].—This gentleman is at present visiting the Santiam mines, and on his return, intends to winter in California, where he has an invalid brother. In the spring, he intends to return to Baker county, where he tells us his interests will demand his attention for several years to come. We hope our Dalles neighbor will not feel unnecessarily anxious on his account. It may be some satisfaction to the Dalles to know that Chaplin did not profess to consider that place the place for the mint, and confessed that Portland's claims were good. Why he didn't vote for Portland he may now know; we only know what he said to us.

[illegible] Manager Potter [illegible] situation is heavily [illegible]

We were in blessed ignorance until [illegible] Saturday evening [illegible] Manager Potter, in which he not only [illegible] the cause of the [illegible] the views on the management [illegible]. In justice to Mr. Potter [illegible] views of the matter, we submit a few facts [illegible] though not asked to do so. Mr. Potter says that he knew of old the Portland [illegible] with bummers, who had dead-headed every thing [illegible] opened here, and that he [illegible] "freeze" them out or freeze out himself; that on the last Saturday there had been on hand [illegible] applicants for free season tickets, and some who were refused said that no [illegible] here, independent of them [illegible] should.

But the manager concluded to stick to his legal [illegible] and [illegible] have a paying and respectable house, or none at all [illegible] he recognized their claims to his consideration.

Certainly Mr. Potter's position is a proper one for himself, and an advantage for the place [illegible] have theatricals, let them be well conducted as Mr. Potter promises they shall be.

There is a strong moral [illegible] against such amusements, but there never was any city without a theatre since the time when [illegible] were first built. Many men of classic [illegible] and the most eminent of writers have not refused to dedicate their genius to [illegible] plays. None hesitates to read Shakespeare, Johnson, Bulwer, Goldsmith, Sheridan, and other authors whose names have become household words, and whose works have rank as the classics of our language; but [illegible] can realize and appreciate their works until they see them—as they were intended to be—acted on the stage.

There are many of our citizens who like to enjoy the humors of a play well acted. There are hundreds of young men who will winter here, after a season of labor in the mines, and whose time might and often would be worse employed than in witnessing the performance of some refined play.

We must have popular amusements; and therefore let us appreciate the difference between a theatre managed by bummers and one well conducted.

We are not given to theatricals, but [illegible] a complimentary card enclosed, showed our appreciation by witnessing the play of Lucretia Borgia, where Miss Ince held us till the close by her striking performance of the part of Lucretia, and we repaid ourselves for the horrors of a tragedy, by remaining to hear a ballad sung in inimitable style by Mrs. [illegible], and a comedy illustrated charmingly by the performance of it.

Men and women of superior attainments and irreproachable character have been actors and actresses, and the true performer who is equal to his part, is as much the artist as he who paints [illegible] on the canvass or chisels it with patient strokes upon the silent stone.

ANOTHER PACIFIC STATE.—The State of Nevada is to be discovered in the constellation of the Union; one of the magnificent galaxy of stars composing our Nation.

Her silver rays become the old flag well, and her vote will be given to Lincoln and Johnson one week from yesterday, which will be better than either silver or gold.

The Pacific side is commencing to count well in the United States Senate, and will have some importance in the future. We gladly welcome a star of freedom, whichsoever side of the mountains it may be.

MARYLAND TO BE A FREE STATE.—Small items of telegraphic news sometimes contain matter of momentous importance. The Free State Constitution was adopted at the late election in Maryland, and we learn by a telegraphic dispatch that the Governor had promulgated the New Constitution so that Maryland is no longer wedded to the idol slavery. She is no longer, indeed she never was "My Maryland," but she is emphatically OUR MARYLAND.

A NEW BOOK BY EXPRESS.—In our advertising columns will be found the card of Mr. Foster, agent for Raymond's History of President Lincoln's Administration. This work has a claim on public attention from the conservative and impartial character of the author, and his well known reputation as a writer. The work is of general public interest and is established in public favor already.

IRISHMEN OF CALIFORNIA.—Irishmen of California, it is an Irishman that pens these lines, and as he does so his heart beats high to see his countrymen here, in San Francisco, rush to the Union and to Liberty. We have in this great city, a Loyal Irish Union Club, which is growing great in numbers and in strength. It numbers thousands of good men and true. The club is the pride of our city. We all glory in it. The slumbering elements of old Ireland's patriotism are aroused in the breasts of her true sons here. Could our friends in the mountains and the valleys witness the [illegible] the enthusiasm, yes, and the fine old [illegible], at our meetings it would kindle in them a fire of the [illegible] patriotism [illegible] until the days of election, and by that time [illegible] copperheadism [illegible] pretty well singed, to give place to refined and pure loyalty. We have shown to the world that Irishmen are true to the government of their choice, and not traitors or rebels against it. We call the people and press of this city to witness the fact that all Irishmen are not disloyal. Our loyal Irish club meets often, and will continue to do so until after the election. Loyal Irishmen, through the State, organize clubs [illegible] and we will [illegible] your voices in loud hallelujahs. [illegible] the hills and the vales [illegible] the [illegible] sounds. Read the account of the Belfast riot on the first page of this paper; they were [illegible] the copperheads of Ireland; they wish to exterminate your kindred and your race forever; then take a lesson from these riots and put your foot upon the neck of the traitors and copperheads of this the land of your adoption, now and forever.—Irish [illegible]

THE QUALIFICATIONS OF VOTERS.—The following are the qualifications of voters as set forth in the Constitution of [illegible]:

SEC. [illegible]. PIGEON SHOOTING.—Some of our citizens, who are accomplished sportsmen, and love a good natured frolic, made up a shooting match yesterday, at the White House, which caused a sad dissolution of the dove family, and in some measure indicated the comparative skill of redoubtable veterans in the use of destructive weapons. Under the direction of the incorruptible C. S. Schenck as judge, the following was the score—each shooter having five birds:—

J. L. Blake	0 0 1 0 0—[illegible]
[illegible] Hallock	0 1 1 0 0—2
[illegible] King	1 1 0 0 0—1
[illegible] Ralston	0 0 0 1 1—[illegible]
In all	[illegible]

Against them—as antagonists—were:

[illegible]	0 1 0 1 0—2
[illegible] Norris	1 0 0 1 1—3
[illegible] Reed	1 0 1 0 1—3
[illegible] Olmstead	1 0 1 0 1—3
In all	11

The pure minded and intelligent Judge therefore declared the last named parties winners of the [illegible], the value of which is of course known to the parties, and will be proved during the week. After the [illegible] there were two sweepstake contests, in which Mr. Blake won the first prize, and Mr. S. G. Reed the second, by distinguished skill and accuracy in their aim and presence of mind. Several of our citizens were present as spectators, who were greatly delighted with the manly and generous spirit manifested by all parties, and from what we saw of the affair, we were prompted heartily to commend such trials of skill, and to urge our sporting friends to test their respective powers by [illegible] and just experiment. These cannot hurt anybody, and if satisfactorily conducted, as was the one yesterday, will be a source of amusement and of mutual satisfaction.

DAILY ASSAULT BY BOYS.—A party of boys, [illegible] on Saturday last, brought up in a garden at the north-west extremity of the city, where they commenced a series of depredations on the fruit and vegetables which was quite objectionable to the owner, and they were driven off. Next they made a descent upon the garden of a neighbor, where they indulged in like liberties, and fired at [illegible] several times, when the proprietor drove them away from his premises. The boys set up an [illegible] resistance to the last act, and after a consultation among themselves determined upon making an assault upon their persecutor. This was done by one of the boys sighting his gun at the [illegible], doing the firing, and thus discharged a load of shot at him, two or three particles of which took effect in his hand. The boys then left. The following Monday N. G. Philock, [illegible] assaulted, a Frenchman, appeared before the District Attorney, to enter a complaint against the boys—whose names he had obtained—which [illegible] was written by the Attorney, in accordance with the above statement, and he then refused to sign it, saying he did not wish to prosecute the boys. The complaint was given to him, and he went away. Yesterday he sought the City Marshal on the matter, still not wishing to prosecute, but [illegible] desirous of laying the subject before the public in some manner. If his statements are [illegible] and we have no right to question them—it is indeed a serious matter for the consideration of fathers and mothers of very bad boys in Portland, and one which they might well and profitably [illegible]. If their sons are so early allowed to [illegible] wayward career of recklessness, they may [illegible], and a man to deal with them so leniently, must sooner or later reap the results of their [illegible] lack of obedience.

[illegible] AND ANDY CLUB.—Met in large numbers [illegible] last evening, where Mr. Veeder had [illegible] the decks for action, and the large dining [illegible] was crowded with hundreds of enthusiastic [illegible] of Lincoln and Johnson. Speeches were [illegible] by Messrs. Meek, Johnson and Dolph. The [illegible] speech of the old mountaineer was [illegible] [illegible] those of Messrs. Dolph and Johnson were [illegible] [illegible]ative and to the point. Mr. A. Bushwiler [illegible] into the meeting a short notice of the movement in Richmond, to be found in our telegraphic [illegible], which was received with great enthusiasm and continued applause. There were 245 [illegible] added to the list last evening. On motion of [illegible] Esq., ladies are invited to attend [illegible] out last evening. Let all Union men be [illegible] for the next rally.

LOOK EVERYBODY!!!
Torch-Light Procession for Saturday night!

[illegible] THE SERVICE.—Mr. C. H. Hill, a typo [illegible] office until the recent call for Volunteers, [illegible] down his "stick and rule" and joined the [illegible] ranks for service under the flag of America. [illegible] is that Henry will make a good and [illegible]; and we should like to train with a [illegible] of just such worthy fellows as he. No [illegible] that may overtake him, so long as there is [illegible] good feeling left for a smile, he will have [illegible] and divide them with the "boys." May [illegible] success attend him.

[illegible] Thomas H. Reynolds, is appointed to the [illegible] service, (instead of Mr. Crandall, unable [illegible] the appointment,) for Marion county. [illegible] of our craft, a typo—and the Governor [illegible] made a better selection in the State. [illegible] that he will meet with success in [illegible] and prove the right man in the service.

ARRIVAL OF THE SIERRA NEVADA.—The steamship Sierra Nevada, Francis Connor Commander, arrived at the mouth of the Willamette river at 5 o'clock P. M. yesterday. She sailed from San Francisco on the 19th October, at 12 o'clock noon. She brought 500 tons of freight for Portland, and the following passengers:

[illegible] A J Kane, I Failing, E E Haft, Sam H [illegible], P Goldsmith, Wm C [illegible], D Chase, J Grun-[illegible], [illegible] Kline wife and two children, T. McF. Patton and wife, [illegible] Briggs, P G Stewart, Mrs O A Putnam, E H Ry-[illegible], [illegible] Hallett and wife, Miss Kane, Miss Heard, S Gunns, [illegible], R Morrison, D S Payne, J Ford, Geo [illegible], [illegible] Kohl, J Taylor, T H Burns, S L Tichnor, Sarah [illegible] and two children, W S Tichnor, Joel F Tichnor, [illegible], M Hoffman, Mrs A Parker, J Moran, A Ber-[illegible], [illegible] Kaufman, Wm Geary, L C Wallace and wife, [illegible], Thos J Holmes Jr, Edw James, H Tichnor and [illegible], [illegible] Hoyte, Mrs Potts, C E Wood, J G Russell, W. [illegible]nger, and 77 others. G. L. Mendon[illegible].

A DIRTY TRICK.—Some dirty fellow, raised in a [illegible] way, fit for nothing but posting confederate [illegible], improved his low lived instincts by [illegible] notices of a confederate mass meeting—to be held last evening, by the little Mackerels—right over the face of similar notices of the Abe and Andy Club Meeting for the same evening. Just what we would expect, from a second hand edition of [illegible]! Just like them: it is safe to bet that the [illegible] has a hang dog look.

[illegible] OIL.—Mr. Williams, of the firm of H. C. [illegible] & Co., who manufacture spices, oils and [illegible], has presented us with a sample of the salad oil they make, and for weeks our kitchen maid has been with delight pronouncing its good quality. The attention of dealers is directed to this article. The manufacturers sell only at wholesale.

THEATRE.—We have just room to mention that "[illegible] Floyd" was re-produced at Willamette Theatre with great success, last evening. A good bill is offered for this evening.

LADIES' SANITARY MEETING.—The Ladies' Sanitary Aid Society will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the vestry of the Baptist Church. Mrs. A. C. [illegible], Secretary.

BROTHER JONATHAN.—Our reporter in San [illegible] telegraphs that this steamship will sail on the [illegible] inst., from San Francisco, for Portland and [illegible].

SOIREE.—A number of our Teutonic friends enjoyed quite a pleasant Soiree opposite our office in Messrs. Turstman & Birnbaum's rooms last evening.

The first effect of a bilious climate upon the human system is to produce torpor and inactivity of the liver, thereby preventing the natural and free discharge of bile. All know the [illegible] of the [illegible] that produces Fever and Ague [illegible] kindred diseases. A sallow complexion, capricious appetite, and occasional pain in the side, are often the early symptoms of the coming of impending danger. The operation of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is to counteract this unusual influence, by producing activity of the biliary organs and a healthy discharge of bile from the system.
Guard against imitation! Be sure that you obtain Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue and you are safe. Sold everywhere. Sole Agents for the Pacific Coast,

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The stomach is the fountain head of scores of diseases which infest the human system. "A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "slight cold" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

A Greenback Case.
HAVING been compelled to accept of Legal Tender Notes at par since the 17th day of December, 1862, for the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that Jacob Mayer
leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly under protest for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE,
Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union both firm and true;
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought it, the banner your honor must save.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1864.

NATIONAL UNION NOMINATIONS.

For President,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN,
Of Illinois.

For Vice-President,
ANDREW JOHNSON,
Of Tennessee.

For Presidential Electors,
GEORGE L. WOODS, of Wasco County,
H. N. GEORGE, of Linn County,
J. F. GAZLEY, of Douglas County.

Now and Then.—Some three years since—when patriotic impulses caused uppermost in the souls of even many of the present [illegible]—magnificent demonstrations were made in favor of the Union cause in several parts of our State.

The first of these was a large mass meeting held at Albany in Linn county in the month of May 1861, and from all parts of the country processions came pouring into town, bearing flags and banners, and patriotic devices.

Among the enthusiastic speakers of that occasion was one Haydon, who rose and proclaimed him a lifelong Democrat, but declared that he had thrown away political prejudices and preferences, and was enlisted for the war on the side of the Union. Southern rebellion found no mercy at his hands, and the idea of a peace founded upon anything but a surrender to lawful authority and the abandonment of the Confederacy was scouted as heresy, and denounced as [illegible] treason. Slavery too, that pet institution of modern chivalry was stigmatized, cursed and branded as the infamous cause of treason.

Haydon was then hostile to secession, in favor of war to the knife, and owned no political allegiance that barred his patriotism. All this was very nice and very pretty, was listened to by patriotic men and cheered to the echo. But presto change! Somebody has pulled the wires and the puppet has changed his base.

In the spring of 1862 Haydon's name was before the people for a nomination for Congress which he did not get; a little his master the same year wanted to go to the United States Senate which he did not get, and demoralization was the consequence.

True such converts are not valuable, detracting from the respectability of a party rather more than they add to its power. The sooner such men put on true colors the better for the Union cause.

But so valuable, gassy and unmitigated a talker could not be lost or neglected and the Democracy have picked him up and made much of him.

Whether the nomination as elector was tendered him in consequence of the signal defeat his party met with in Polk county, where his home was and where his oratory was properly exercised during the last campaign, or from appreciation of the proverb he so very conspicuously illustrates that consistency is a jewel, we cannot tell.

The fact we want to communicate now, is that this man's change of base was too sudden to be sincere, or else that his former pretension of Unionism was intensely false and hypocritical.

The election will soon be over and he will return to his "thousand acres in Polk," crest fallen and dejected. There will be no spoils this time. He works on mere suspicion and "hope deferred maketh the heart sick."

His particular efforts of late have been reserved for this place, and will be soon wiped out by the uprising we will witness here during the few intervening days before election.

The Union cause will have no chance to droop until we hear of the successful issue.

We quote his former position that his own words may answer him, and that his want of consistency may be apparent to each and every man who listens.

Grant is marching on Richmond and it is not unlikely that the soldiers may bivouac in the suburbs, and poll their votes for President in the very purlieus of the unholy city.

Thank God! our faith is not dependent on the success of treason!

Union victories do not hurt us!

[illegible] is with us and our country's cause is ours!

General McClellan.—The [illegible] General is claimed by the Confederate press as being for McClellan with great gusto, but the General is not "chained" to a severe degree [illegible] we are strongly inclined to think the Cop will have to "accept his apology." Wonder if they can't find some names of the rank of General to put on the McClellan club list? General Buell is a "good Union" General; Lane is another. Speaking of Generals, McClernand and John Logan used to be hard-shell old line Democrats—where do they [illegible] the copperheads claim them? We suspect they can't be reached [illegible] that's what's the matter, they want to fight it out.

The Old Man [illegible].—Tuesday evening Joe Meek [illegible] the Abe and Andy Club [illegible] Joe Meek says [illegible] Hooker is for McClellan [illegible]

Rally, Rally To Night.—[illegible] will be held this evening at the [illegible] speeches may be expected [illegible] are expected to address the [illegible] We want to [illegible] in their work [illegible]

Good Time.—[illegible] Oregon City [illegible] the steamer [illegible] attend the Union mass meeting [illegible] The round trip will [illegible] this pleasant weather [illegible] try to gather there and give a lift to the Union cause, and have a good time.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to November 1.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 29.—The garrison at Beverly Ford, composed of a detachment of the 8th Ohio cavalry under Colonel Youell was attacked this morning at daylight by Major Hall [illegible] [illegible] After [illegible] fighting, the rebels were [illegible] killed and quite a number wounded. Among the latter was Major Hall who was mortally wounded [illegible] Our loss was [illegible] killed and 21 wounded. The rebels retreated to the mountains.

New York, Oct. 30.—Southern papers contain comments of the proceedings of the late extra session of the Alabama legislature and [illegible] plan of reconstruction [illegible]

A Richmond dispatch of the 26th says that the hostile armies are so strongly intrenched that it would seem sheer madness for either to attack the other. In the front at some places they [illegible] yards apart and in others not over 100 yards apart.

They may remain in their respective positions all winter, or any morning or night may bring on a collision.

A dispatch from the Shenandoah valley represents everything quiet. The guerrillas between Martinsburg and Winchester are getting very [illegible] and strong guards are necessary to protect the trains passing through. It is reported that the rebels were preparing for an extensive raid towards Western Virginia. A rebel reconnoissance as far as Woodstock failed to find any rebels, notwithstanding it had been reported that Early was reorganizing. The mountains are full of stragglers, who are picked up by our cavalry.

Our entire casualties in the battle of the 19th were about 6,000; enemy's 9,000.

A Hagerstown dispatch that [illegible] o'clock last night states that firing was heard in the direction of Sheridan's front on Saturday afternoon. Our positions are being made by Sheridan to meet any assault in that direction. General Neil has been ordered to West Virginia on important service, most likely to check any designs that Breckinridge may have of moving through East Tennessee. Over 2,000 refugees have come into Sheridan's lines since the 19th of September bringing with them such property as they can carry. It is again said that Early has been superseded in the Shenandoah by Longstreet, and reinforcements have reached him from Breckinridge, who is in West Virginia and East Tennessee.

The rebel accounts of Grant's last movement are summed up in terrible Union loss in killed and wounded, while the rebel loss is put at 25 men. The death of General Dearing is announced.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The President has issued a proclamation admitting Nevada into the Union.

Louisville, Oct. 29.—It is reported that there was a fight at Decatur on the 27th in which the rebels were defeated. No particulars.

In Nashville there is a report that Hood is again throwing a force on Sherman's rear.

Harrisburg, Oct. 31.—The official returns of the soldiers' vote received at the Secretary's office to this date footing, Union 17,888; Democratic 5,232. Union majority 12,6[illegible].

The Post's special says some of the slaveholders in the lower part of Maryland are holding their slaves to try the question of emancipation in the courts.

New York, Oct. 31.—The Times' special says that direct communications with Atlanta by rail are open and secure, although there are guerrillas between Etowah river and Big Shanty.

A telegram from Gen. Gillem dated this morning represents the last fight as brilliant in the extreme. The entire rebel force was scattered. Many officers and batteries [illegible] extra guns were captured. Vaughan, who commanded the rebels, was severely wounded in two places, and is concealed somewhere in Green County.

A later dispatch from Gillem says he is still picking up prisoners and captured 70. His loss in both fights is eight killed and wounded. The guerrillas are exceeding troublesome on the Cumberland river and North western railroad.

New York, Nov. 1.—Last advices Government had from Sherman were to the effect that he should hold Atlanta in spite of any attempt the rebels might make to dislodge him.

It is stated positively that Stanton is to be Chief Justice and Montgomery Blair Secretary of War.

New York, Nov. 1.—The last advices the Government had from Sherman were to the effect that he should hold Atlanta in spite of any attempt of the rebels to dislodge him.

It is stated positively that Stanton is to be Chief Justice and M. Blair Secretary of War.

The Tribune's army James River correspondent says only 300 or 400 of Gillem's and Fairchild's brigades were captured in a charge on the rebel works Oct. 27th.

The accounts in the Richmond papers of the fighting south of Petersburg say Wade Hampton lost one son killed, one wounded and admit a loss of 400 prisoners. Gen. Dearing reported killed is unhurt. The utmost quiet prevailed on the 30th.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Donahoe & Terry, Agents in the late election frauds have been convicted by a military commission and sentenced to imprisonment for life. The sentence has been approved by the President and will be immediately carried into execution.

Reports having been in circulation for some days that Atlanta was being evacuated the President [illegible] the rumor, and says Sherman's last accounts said he would hold the place under any circumstance. No move Hood can make will endanger this point.

A fight occurred between a large force of Mosby's men and a portion of the 16th cavalry on the 29th in the neighborhood of Salem, Va. The guerrillas were routed. Our loss was 2 killed and 4 wounded. The rebels is much greater, including sixteen prisoners.

New York, Nov. 1.—A National Convention of Democrats opposed to the Chicago Convention is in session here to-day. Delegates are present from all the loyal States. The meeting was called to order by Geo. A. Brainerd. [illegible] was made temporary chairman and a business committee was appointed.

Gold on the 31st was 223. Legal tenders to-day 45@45.

New York, Nov. 1.—The Herald has additional details of the movement below Petersburg on the 27th. On approaching Hatcher's run, [illegible] division of infantry found the enemy posted on the other side of the line of entrenchments. His command deployed in a line of battle. Smith's brigade crossed the run and carried the breastworks on the other side. The [illegible] of the 4th Ohio. The remaining forces then crossed and advanced reaching a point near the junction of the Boynton road with the Quaker road. Our troops being deployed in the open [illegible] the enemy opened with artillery from right and left. Their batteries soon silenced our right. Crawford, of the Fifth Corps at the same time was [illegible] At 4 o'clock p.m. the enemy attacked in force our front and our right, the attack being to break through. On the right was Hancock's corps and on the left of Warren's, the assault was repulsed and we captured 400 or 600 prisoners. The advance of the enemy was so sudden that the guns of Beck's battery were lost but the guns were subsequently retaken. The enemy made an assault at the same time on our left and rear which was handsomely repulsed [illegible]

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Oct. 29.—[illegible] the army resulted in extending our lines [illegible] Hatcher's Run [illegible] in the left and in discovering [illegible] the enemy's lines and works [illegible] their defence.

The [illegible] dispatch from the army of the James, Jan. the 28th says, [illegible] Terry moved the [illegible] [illegible] Williamsburg [illegible] Seven Pines [illegible] the enemy's left [illegible] which they did at night and [illegible] to start again. The result on the other [illegible]

Nashville, Nov. 1.—Since the repulse [illegible] at Decatur he has moved farther west. It is believed to have crossed an infantry force at or near Bainbridge [illegible] Rumor here has it that he is coming this way. [illegible] is difficult to ascertain. [illegible] his movements are [illegible] with a view to affect the coming election. Forrest with a cavalry force is reported to be threatening [illegible] large quantities of Government stores [illegible] transport have been destroyed [illegible]

McClellan's Sentiments.—They claim that Sheridan, Rosecrans, Hooker and Heaven knows how many more generals are for Little Mac [illegible] what we learn they are doing him good service. We can't afford to be too liberal to our opponents [illegible] as they have no organ in this place we will give them a good turn just for once by printing their own authorities. General Hooker commented [illegible] McClellan's generalship in the [illegible] words. I consider that the failure of the Peninsula campaign was due to the want of generalship in the Commander-in-Chief." Ahem! very effective praise [illegible]

HOW THE CONFEDERATES [illegible]

The Democrats in the rebel armies seem to be [illegible] roughly satisfied with [illegible] Northern friends. They [illegible] McClellan [illegible] man, and testify their enthusiasm [illegible] with all the demonstrative energy [illegible] Rangers. A soldier [illegible] writes to a Philadelphia paper, as follows:

"While the Chicago Convention was in session the rebels took interest in the [illegible] Convention. They continually [illegible] our pickets [illegible] exchange papers. On the night of the [illegible] inst., they being satisfied that McClellan [illegible] at about 9 o'clock they [illegible] their works [illegible] nearly twelve miles [illegible] McClellan! Our men [illegible] In a moment or two [illegible] upon their works and [illegible] three cheers for Abraham Lincoln, and both sides kept it up for some time. While the cheering was going on, no firing of any kind was done; each side was too much engaged in cheering their favorite. This affair has made thousands of votes for Mr. Lincoln. You will find but few McClellan men in the extreme front about Petersburg."

This is quite natural. The Confederates understand, just as well as Seymour and Vallandigham, who are their friends. Like those distinguished Peace Democrats, the Southern "Conservatives" are quite disgusted with Lincoln's despotism and fanaticism. They are thoroughly convinced that he has "violated the Constitution." They also appreciate Gen. McClellan as a "war candidate on a peace platform." They don't think he means them any serious harm. They are instinctively persuaded that he is "their friend all the time." We have no doubt they would hugely relish the privilege of carrying transparencies in a Brown Ranger procession, and voting, at the coming election, for the Young Napoleon. Those exemplary Peace Democrats who have been uncourteously spoken of as "Mosby's Cut-throats," are also in favor of General George. On this point we have the testimony of Dr. Lloyd, who recently escaped from the custody of those slandered patriots. The Doctor says:

"The general tone among Mosby's men was one of the most rancorous hatred against Lincoln, and of hope that McClellan would be elected, because they believed that he would make a speedy compromise. The same opinion concerning Lincoln and McClellan seemed to prevail among the people of Richmond."

An officer of the army of the Potomac, writing under the date of Sept. 4th, thus speaks of the manner in which the Southern Democrats received the intelligence of the Chicago nomination:

"Our regiment was relieved from the front line last evening for forty-eight hours, and I must tell you how the "Johnnies" received the news of the nomination of McClellan. They seemed to take more interest in the Chicago Convention than we did; were very anxious to get our latest papers, and probably an hour after we received the news of the nomination they had heard it, as they set up a cheering along their entire line, and their bands played the "Bonny Blue Flag." Their cheering sounded harshly upon our loyal ears. The "Johnnies" seem delighted at the idea of a cessation of hostilities and a convention of States, as this would give them time to recruit and gather supplies. In a talk with a rebel prisoner he said to me: "Give us a cessation of hostilities only for three months, and we can then fight you for five years longer!"

Now, this is undoubtedly a shrewd calculation. It is also a sound one. Furthermore, it is precisely the calculation of Vallandigham, Wood, Seymour, and other Northern Peace Democratic Confederates. They also rejoice in the prospect of "a cessation of hostilities," and for the identical reasons so ingenuously set forth in the above extract. It must be a source of virtuous satisfaction to the Confederates of the North that their brethren in Dixie are so well pleased with their labors at Chicago.—S. F. Flag.

PAST AND PRESENT—THE TORIES AND THE SECESSIONISTS.—Our Washington correspondent has spoken very highly of the recent speech of General Garfield, of Ohio, in the House of Representatives, on the Confiscation bill. Another correspondent writes:

The illustrations and historical allusions in the speech are very striking and full of interest, and the glimpses of personal experience all have a direct bearing upon the argument. His allusion to the history of the tories in this country after the Revolutionary war, and the treatment they received at the hands of the patriots of 1776, was very effective. He gave the history of the confiscation act of those times. A paragraph or two I must quote:

"I say it is a significant fact, that of the vast number of tories, perhaps not a thousand remained in this country after the war. The people would not endure their presence. They were driven out and took refuge in all quarters of the globe. They colonized New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and were scattered along the borders of Canada. The States would not tolerate the presence of the few who came back under the provisions of the treaty, refused them the right of voting, of holding office or property. It was well known that there could be no peace between our loyal people and them. Their history is a sad record of infamy, obscurity and misery. Some exhibited their vengeful hate long after the war was over. Girty and his associates who murdered Crawford in the Indian war of 1791, were tories of the Revolution. Bowles and Hamilton, leaders among the Creek Indians, and who started the Florida troubles, which resulted in a long and bloody conflict in the swamps of that State, were tories. As a class, they went out with the brand of Cain upon them, and were not permitted to return.

"One State alone relented. South Carolina passed an act of oblivion, restored a part of the confiscated estates, and permitted the tories to vote and hold office. Her policy has borne its bitter fruit. Her government has hardly been entitled to be called republican. The spirit of monarchy has ruled her councils, and at last plunged our republic into the most gigantic and worst of revolutions.

"Let us take counsel from the wisdom of our fathers. Is it probable that those men who confiscated all the property of armed tories would a few years later establish it as a fundamental doctrine of the constitution that no confiscation should be made beyond the lifetime of the individual attainted? It is not probable that men who had just done what they stubbornly held to be right should enact, as a part of the supreme law of the land, that it should never be done again.—California paper.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to overestimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has long been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act on the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR
SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to this investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton, of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners. (See "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.
